FROM UP RIVER.
No Fighting Yesterday.
Parties from Western Maryland report that there was no fighting yesterday, and that the rebels have not made any attempt at crossing the Potomac. The impression is that there is no rebel force in Northern Virginia other than the force which lately appeared in front of this city, and that their purpose now is to hold possession of the Valley until the crops can be gathered in.

IMPORTANT FROM CITY POINT.
Heavy Cannoning Going On—The Rebels Advancing upon Bermuda Hundred—Grant Prepared to Meet them at any Point on the James River.
The mail steamer John Brooks arrived here this morning, at 6 o'clock, from City Point, which place she left yesterday morning at 10 o'clock. At that hour all was quiet in front of Petersburg, but on Tuesday afternoon a movement of the rebels was discovered, which, although not fully developed, indicated that they were attempting to flank Butler on the right, or were endeavoring to gain Harrison's Landing, for the purpose of getting in his rear. The proper disposition of troops was immediately made to check them and find out their intentions.

Artillery firing commenced at Point of Rocks early in the evening of Tuesday, which continued all night. Our infantry, batteries, and gunboats were engaged, but the most of the firing was doubtless done by the rebels, which were shelling the banks of the river. Fighting was also going on near Bermuda Hundred, and it was reported that the rebels were posted three miles from that place. Parties who were at General Butler's headquarters on Tuesday night state that the roar of artillery was heard from the river. Yesterday morning, when the Brooks came down the river, firing was still going on, and seemed to have slackened.

The Evening Express says:—The subscriptions to the 7-30 loan are already coming in, and Mr. C. is receiving several this morning, including one of $50,000. A certain bank in New York is expected to take $50,000 or $1,000,000 in the course of the day.

GENERAL SHERMAN'S VICTORY.
The Great Battle of Friday—We have 3,221 Dead Rebels—1,000 Sound Prisoners Captured—100 Seriously Wounded Fall into Our Hands—The Rebels Lost 12,000 Men—Eleven Stands of Colors Captured—Stoneman's Cavalry in the Saddle—Operations on the Railroad—General Garrard's Report.

LOUISVILLE, July 25.—Major A. W. Kelley, late Mayor of Nashville, has just arrived from the front, which he left on Monday night. He states that after the battle of Friday, in front of the 15th, 16th, and 17th corps, our men buried three thousand two hundred and twenty-one dead, and captured one thousand sound prisoners and eleven hundred seriously wounded, with eleven stands of colors.

Among the prisoners there are thirty-three officers, from the rank of Colonel down. The slightly wounded were taken off the field by the rebels.

Gen. J. A. Logan estimates the rebel loss at 12,000. Our loss, including killed, wounded and missing, at 3,120.

Atlanta is in plain view, but General Sherman does not desire to enter it at present; in two hours he could establish his headquarters there.

Gen. Stoneman is en route for the Macon and Atlanta Railroad.

To-day's Nashville Union says, Gen. Garrard, at the head of a cavalry force, marched to Covington, and destroyed several bridges and engines, a large number of cars, and 2,000 bales cotton. We also learn that the rebel loss before Atlanta will doubtless reach 12,000.

THE REBEL FORCE IN THE SHENANDOAH.
Information from Baltimore.

The telegraph lines to Baltimore being under an embargo by the Government, we avail ourselves of the following information derived from a well informed gentleman of that city, in regard to the important military movements now transpiring on the Upper Potomac.

With the particulars of the abandonment of the pursuit of the raiders by the 6th corps the public are already familiar. It is now clearly ascertained that as soon as the fact of the return of the 6th corps toward Washington was announced, the rebels availed themselves of the opportunity to make a dash for the river, and their rear fell upon Gen. Crook's command near Winchester with such overwhelming numbers as to compel that gallant officer to retreat, leaving a considerable number of men killed, wounded and prisoners, as well as a few guns. The loss in men is estimated at one thousand. From all our informant could gather, however, is that the rebels lost, though there seems to be no doubt that the enemy did capture some.

With regard to the reported death of Gen. Kelley, it is sufficient to say that he was not killed by Gen. Crook, but was, and still is, at Cumberland.

General Mulligan's death was still reported at Baltimore yesterday, but there is no authentic information on the subject.

With regard to the strength of the enemy, the most reliable estimates of the entire force composing the recent raiding column do not make it more than 10,000 or 12,000 men. It is believed that the rebel force is now reinforced to the extent of 10,000 or 12,000, making the whole strength of the rebel force now in the Valley and upon the border of the Upper Potomac 25,000 or 30,000 men.

It is understood, in well informed quarters, to be under the command of Gen. A. P. Hill, Gen. Early having, it is said, been obliged to retire from active duty on account of his wounds, and being assigned to the command of the Richmond district.

As to the designs of this rebel force now on the march, it is believed that they are bent upon this time they have not crossed the Potomac, at least in any force, all is conjecture. The most probable view is that they will attempt an extensive raid into Pennsylvania, and by making a great show of strength endeavor to force Gen. Grant to send away more of his army from before Petersburg. In corroboration of the opinion expressed as to the general object of the raid, it is believed that Gen. Crook reported that the rebel line of battle crossing him extended four miles.

As to what the Government is doing our informant says some facts which cannot be particularly spoken of, it is showing rapidly toward the Upper Potomac with all the available force at present at his command. The entire command of the 6th corps has been placed under General Hunter, but he is by this time in a position to give battle to the advance of the enemy, with a force, our informant is of opinion, sufficient to cope with any that the enemy can possibly have.
